2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

As to claim 10, the prior art of record fails to teach a system capable of sending and receiving information to and from a communication apparatus on a network via a cellular phone, i.e., a communication terminal comprising a second receiving device which receives connection information for making communication connection to the communication apparatus on the network from the cellular phone; and a first transmitting and receiving device which sends and receives information to and from the communication apparatus on the network based on the connection information received from the cellular phone.

As to claim 12, the prior art of record fails to teach a system capable of sending and receiving information to and from a communication apparatus on a network via a cellular phone, i.e., a communication terminal comprising a second receiving device which receives the menu of destinations of connection for making communication connection to the communication apparatus on the network from the cellular phone; an inputting device which designates the communication apparatus on the network; and a first transmitting and first receiving device which sends information of the designated communication apparatus on the network to the cellular phone and connects communication to the designated communication apparatus on the network to send and receive information.

These limitations in combination with the remaining limitations of claims 11, 13, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25 are not nor suggested by the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
